Are you curious about how clinical supervision is being implemented across the nursing and midwifery workforce? Want to learn from national and local initiatives and start shaping supervision in your own area?

Join us for the third national webinar, bringing together voices from across Scotland to explore how organisations are aligning with national frameworks to embed clinical supervision into everyday practice.

What to expect:

- Discussions on supporting leadership and culture to enable effective supervision
- Insights into local and national approaches to clinical supervision
- Guidance on supervisor preparation, recording and monitoring, and quality assurance
- Exploration of governance and improvement strategies
